WILL EXPLAIN HOW MEDIUMS MAKE EFFECTS

The Men of Calvary-Church will have their first monthly meeting in the Vestry of the Church, Tuesday evening, January 8, beginning at 7:45. A special program of interest has been prepared by the Program Committee of which Norman Walkshaw is the Chairman.

Following a big sige which will begin at 7:45, C. K. Tripp, the head of the Educational Department of the General Electric Company will speak on the subject "What Is A Medium?" Mr. Tripp has made the investigation of spiritualists, mediums, and their methods of producing effects a hobby for many years. In his address he will deal with the methods used and the effects produced. An intensely interesting meeting is being anticipated by those in charge of the program.

Following a brief business meeting, the program will be turned over to Mr. Frank Hughes and his Social Committee and games and a general good time will be enjoyed. The evening will be closed with refreshments.

No charge is made for this program and the men and friends of Calvary Church are invited to be present.

Longfellow Chapter O. E. S. Elects New Officers

Longfellow Chapter No. 117, O. E. S. held its annual meeting in Odd Fellows hall on Saturday evening, after a delicious supper served by a committee headed by Mrs. Carrie Murray, the annual reports were read showing the chapter in a very fine condition.

The officers elected for the coming year were: Worthy Matron, Miss Evelyn Aykroyd; Worthy Patron, Mr. George Fish; Associate Matron, Mrs. Elizabeth Allis; Associate Patron, Mr. Alfred Brison; Secretary, Mrs. Rosella Schmetz; Treasurer, Mrs. Ethel F. Kinney; Conductress, Mrs. Edith Rae; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Vivian Bowe; Trustee, Mrs. Bola Downs.

Talent Plan Reports At Watch Night Service

On New Year's Eve, a watch night service was held at the Heights Baptist Church, the main item of interest being the termination of the 1934 "Talent Plan", a system whereby last year the church was able to pay off its mortgage. First on the program was a supper, consisting of fruit cup, roast pork, creamed onions, mashed turnip, cranberry relish, pickles, rolls, lemon sherbet, assorted cake, mints, nuts and coffee.

At 9:30 the guest speaker, Rev. Isaac Higginbotham of Quincy, Massachusetts director of missionary co-operation, addressed those assembled. Mrs. Lorimer Higgins was soloist, and sang several numbers that were much enjoyed. Then the captains of the talent teams brought in the bricks with which they were to "Build the Wall". A social hour followed until half past eleven, when the holy communion was given, and the results of the 1934 Talent Plan were revealed.

PROF. ARMSTRONG TO SPEAK HERE

Mr. Floyd E. Armstrong, Professor of Economics at the Mass. Inst. of Technology, will address the Arlington Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday evening, January 8th, at Wyman's, on "Facing the Facts in Our Present Business Life".

Prof. Armstrong lived in Arlington many years, and his children are graduates of the High School; he is a leader in his profession, and a polished speaker, and his address will be of great interest to everybody. It is expected that the meeting will be largely attended, as members and their friends are invited to attend. The hour for the meeting is eight o'clock.

President O'Leary has let it be known that Mr. Van Ness Bates will be present and give some light on his proposed scheme for rapid transit and a vehicular concourse between Boston and Arlington, and will be willing to answer questions.

Disabled Veterans Receive Presents

The rehabilitation work of Post 39, American Legion and its Auxiliary took the form of gifts this year. The Legion gave cartons of cigarettes, attractively wrapped to each Arlington World War veteran at the Bedford Hospital, and other hospitals; the Auxiliary gave a necktie and a box of chocolates also attractively wrapped. Mrs. Ann Rich, chairman of rehabilitation of the Auxiliary, delivered both the Legion and the Auxiliary presents.

CITIZENS COMM. FIRES OPENING POLITICAL GUN

Following its usual custom, the Arlington Citizens' Committee has been actively organizing for the coming campaign. The long established plan of a Town-wide committee, non-partisan, and representing all sections is again being pursued, according to announcement yesterday by vice-chairman Earl C. Hopkins.

Past experience, it is claimed, has shown that the activities of the committee have been instrumental in obtaining for the Town the services of the most capable men and women for public office. It is the only committee in the Town that has functioned continuously for more than a decade and it is proud of its record, and the record of the Town officials whom it has endorsed.

Although its active personnel includes many new faces each year, its fundamental purpose has never changed. Year after year this purpose has remained the same—"To further the candidacy of suitable persons for the various elective Town offices." It has continuously strived to perform its functions in a broad impartial way that will preserve the best interests of the Town and keep the governmental activities of Arlington on a high plane.

The committee is now examining the field with the view to selecting its candidates for the next election. In the near future public notice will be given of the first open meeting.

Rowland Appointed To Curley Staff

It was announced on New Year's Day that Henry C. Rowland, who has just bought the Swan estate on the corner of Pleasant and Maple streets, had been appointed by his excellency James M. Curley, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, as assistant secretary in charge of legal matters. A picture of Mr. Rowland accompanied the announcement in Boston papers. Mr. Rowland is well-known in Arlington, having been active in political circles for many years.

Mr. Rowland was born in Somerville in 1876. He studied law under Prof. Frank L. Simson and was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1911, later being admitted to practice in the United States District Court. Shortly after he married Ellen C. Scannell of Worcester in 1912 the Rowlands moved to Arlington and have lived here ever since. They have nine children.

Arlington Grange Installs Officers

Arlington Grange held public installation of offices on Wednesday evening in Ye Lantern, with Katherine Brown MacCarron, past master of Melrose Grange, installing officer. Mrs. Marcus J. Gray was elected for the third year as master of the local grange.

The following officers were also installed: Elizabeth Withus, overseer; Marcus Gray, lecturer; Edna Potter, assistant lecturer; Ernest Sawyer, steward; Hallett Beals, assistant steward; Emily M. Saunders, chaplain; Clinton Somes, treasurer; Dena Wolfer, secretary; William Ford, gatekeeper; Emily S. Saunders, cores: Dorothy Johnson, Pomona; Josephine Manley, Flora; Melba Smith, lady assistant steward; Carrie Maddocks, Marjorie McFarren and Mabel McCoubrey, executive committee; Elsie Leslie, pianist.

At the close of the installation refreshments were served.

Nobody Same Since Freud's "Dirty Work"

Professor Robert E. Rogers, widely known as a lecturer and author, was the speaker at the meeting of the Arlington Woman's Club Thursday afternoon. "Our Changing American Literature" was the subject of the lecture. Beginning with the English traditional writing the first change was brought about, he said, when we began to write in the American homespun language. The second great change was during the reign of Roosevelt the 1st, who did a great deal for America in every way. We became culturally a part of the world.

The war did not interrupt our literary development, we became conscious of our literary culture of the past 20 years.

With the advent of Freud all psychology was revolutionized. "In fact, no one has been the same, since Freud got in his dirty work," said Rogers.

From this time stories of getting-on, success, were the vogue until Sherwood Anderson and others fed up on business success depicted realism. Mencken and Sinclair Lewis smash ideals to have something better. The lecture provoked questions which were answered in Rogersque mode.

The two piano ensemble was an innovation. Misses Coates and Whittemore, pupils of Gebhard, played with precision and ease. Their half hour program was greatly enjoyed.

Rev. and Mrs. Barber Receive Friends

Rev. and Mrs. Laurence L. Barber were at home at the Congregational Church New Year's Day, where friends dropped in to wish them a Happy New Year. The tea table with the brilliant red and white flower setting with silver bowls and urns was most attractive. Christmas trees were used profusely in decoration.

Miss Cunningham, who was to have been a special guest, was too ill to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Everett E. Brainard and Mrs. Llewellyn Evans received with Mr. and Mrs. Barber. The sons, Laurence and Clarence assisted the servers, among whom were Mrs. Carl Carroll, Mrs. Leland Graf, Mrs. William Dunn, Mrs. Earl S. Lewis, Mrs. Hollie M. Gott, Mrs. John H. Wallwork, Mrs. Harry Spong, Mrs. Gordon L. Olson, Mrs. Edward Lincoln, Mrs. Alvin Woodward.

In her family are four living generations, three daughters, Mrs. C. E. Clarke of Medford, and Miss Loretta E. Byam and Miss May A. Byam, who live with their mother; four grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Mrs. Byam was born in Charlestown, December 29, 1840, and was married there in 1878 to Lyndsay M. Byam who died in 1917.

There was no special formal observance but groups of friends and relatives gathered from time to time throughout the day to extend their congratulations to Mrs. Byam.

APPROVE APPLICATIONS OF ELEVATED AND SERVICE CO.'S

Selectmen Grant Permission for Two Bus Lines Through Heights Section. Dept. of Public Utilities Will Make Final Decision.

Income Tax Man To Aid Arlingtonians

Arlington may have a chance to support two more bus lines within the next two or three weeks, and the beginning of the end is in sight for those residents of the Heights who have labored long and diligently for transportation for that section.

At their meeting Wednesday evening the members of the Board of Selectmen unanimously approved the applications of the Boston Elevated Railway Company and the Service Bus Line, Inc., to operate over two different routes in the town. The El request was granted as submitted, but certain changes were made in the proposed route of the latter company.

At the same time, two other applications were refused, those of the Lovell Bus Company and a local taxi man, Tremblay of the Heights. The Lovell Company proposed a route which was approximately the same as that of the Elevated Company, while Mr. Tremblay submitted nine different routes, all confined to the Heights section.

But the permission of the local Selectmen is not sufficient authority for the starting of a bus line. The two successful companies must now take their applications before the State Department of Public Utilities and receive a favorable decision there. And in the case of the El, permission must also be had from the Town of Belmont since the proposed line is an extension of the present line from Harvard Square to Belmont Center.

On December 17 the Selectmen held hearings on the proposals of the Elevated, the Lovell and the Service Companies. Wide interest was shown, and the hearing room was crowded. Those citizens present expressed themselves in favor of the Elevated and Service proposals but disapproved that of the Lovell Company. There was considerable opposition to the Service Line application from the residents of Academy and Jason streets, but in granting the application, the Selectmen took the objections into consideration and eliminated both streets from the route which will be as follows:

Starting at the Heights Depot, on Park avenue to Florence avenue, on Florence to Hillside avenue, on Hillside to Prospect avenue, on Prospect to turning point at the Tower, down Park avenue to Oakland avenue, on Oakland to Gray street, on Gray to Churchill avenue, on Churchill to Massachusetts avenue, on Massachusetts to the Central Fire Station, then proceed back over the same route to point of beginning.

Tickets Going Well
For Welfare Benefit

The announcement in last week's papers of the presentation of an illustrated lecture on "National Parks and Forests" to be given by Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter for the benefit of the Arlington Welfare Council on the evening of January 14 is creating no little interest, and already, it is announced that the tickets are going well.

In as much as the lecture is designed to be educational and interesting for grown-ups and children alike, it is urged that whole families take advantage of the opportunity of hearing Mrs. Parmenter's address and seeing her very remarkable pictures. There will be motion pictures as well as stills.

Tickets, which are being sold at a nominal price, may be obtained at Council headquarters in the Old Town Hall as well as from any member of the Council.

Crashes Through Fence To Avoid Hitting Child

A child, Annette Maxwell, very narrowly escaped injury or death Monday night when she coasted down Aerial street into Forest street. John A. Anderson of West Somerville was driving his machine along Forest street at the time, and in order to avoid striking the coaster, ran his car through a fence owned by C. A. Bean of 138 Sunset road.

Mrs. Byam Observes Her 94th Birthday

Last Saturday, December 29, friends, neighbors, children and grandchildren greeted informally Mrs. Sarah E. (Norton) Byam who was observing her ninety-fourth birthday at her home at 105 Warren street.

Mrs. Byam, who is in excellent health, goes to Boston by trolley car each Sunday with her daughters to attend services in the Park Street Congregational Church.

In her family are four living generations, three daughters, Mrs. C. E. Clarke of Medford, and Miss Loretta E. Byam and Miss May A. Byam, who live with their mother; four grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Mrs. Byam was born in Charlestown, December 29, 1840, and was married there in 1878 to Lyndsay M. Byam who died in 1917.

An urgent appeal is being made to all residents of Arlington to get behind this movement and help this worthy cause, in preference to outside agencies.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Thompson of Pleasant street had a delightful New Year's birthday dinner last Tuesday.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 6.

The Golden Text is: "Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever" (I Timothy 1:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the Lord: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee. For the kingdom is the Lord's: and he is the governor among the nations" (Psalm 22:27, 28).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "One infinite God, good, unifies men and nations; constitutes the brotherhood of man; ends wars; fulfills the Scripture, 'Love thy neighbor as thyself'; annihilates pagan and Christian idolatry, — whatever is wrong in social, civil, criminal, political, and religious codes; equalizes the sexes; annuls the curse on man, and leaves nothing that can sin, suffer, be punished or destroyed" (p. 340).

Are We Anglo-Saxons?

By Norman Talcott

"We Anglo-Saxons—" "This great Anglo-Saxon Republic"—"Our Anglo-Saxon ideals"—. We are hearing such expressions all the time, seeing them in print, and using them, ourselves, until some of us get to believe that this is really an Anglo-Saxon country, and that most of us are Anglo-Saxons.

If we substituted the word, English, for Anglo-Saxon, we would come somewhat nearer to the fact, though not so very near, at that, for only about forty per cent of the blood in this country is English. But even if all of it were English, it would not make us Anglo-Saxons.

Now, there actually were Anglo-Saxons once. Or, rather, there were people called Angles and people called Saxons, who, together with a people called Jutes (about whom it seems next to impossible to learn anything, except that they came from Jutland, and were said to be dark-haired, in contradistinction to the blond Angles and Saxons) conquered the British Isles.

According to the legends they were tall, hearty, flaxen-haired, blue-eyed giants, who roamed the ocean, and loved nothing so much as fighting and pillaging, and feared nothing that walked the earth or sailed the seven seas. They were most interesting and Romantic chaps. But they weren't English—any more than the English and their American cousins are Anglo-Saxons.

Before the Anglo-Saxons

About 2,500 years before the Angles, Saxons and Jutes began their migration to the British Isles, those islands, as well as France and Spain, on the European mainland, were inhabited by a Mediterranean race called the Iberians. No one knows where they came from, but one theory is that Egypt was their previous home. They were a dark-haired, dark-eyed people, thought to have been somewhat like the present day Spaniards. They are supposed to have overrun the country, conquering and assimilating whatever tribes lived there before. They held possession for more than fifteen hundred years.

Then, in the neighborhood of 400 B. C. the Celts appeared upon the scene. A great deal is said about the Celts, and very little is known about them. Some writers think they were a ruling caste of Nordic origin who came to rule over the Iberians, very much as the Normans later came to rule over the people of England. Others declare that they were a race of mixed Nordic and Mediterranean stock. Some of them were dark, it is said, some blond, and not a few red-headed.

The Celts mixed with the Iberians, and as they were not molested for nearly a thousand years, the mixture fused the two into a pretty homogeneous race. These were the people the Romans found in Britain and Ireland, and to whom they gave some of their culture but on whom they made no impression racially.

And the Celt-Iberians were the possessors of the land when the Angles, Saxons and Jutes swept down in their Viking ships. They were divided into widely differing tribes, but they were basically the same people throughout England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland.

Celt-Iberians + Anglo-Saxons = English

A relatively high state of culture had been reached by the Celt-Iberians. It is said that both in ship-building and navigation they surpassed the Romans. They had developed three different systems of writing, one, particularly ingenious, somewhat resembling modern shorthand in principle. In Ireland their rare art and craftsmanship in working precious metals brought traders from all parts of the world to obtain their wares.

A hasty reading of some of the histories might lead one to believe that as soon as the Anglo-Saxons appeared, all these millions of Celt-Iberians immediately vanished into thin air, and left the country to the new-comers. This, however, does not accord with reason. What must really have happened was that, eventually, after a great deal of fighting, they mixed with the invaders. As soon as the mixture began to take place, England, in Norway. There are parts of Ireland where, until a little over a hundred years ago, Norse was the only language spoken.

Though there are striking superficial differences between the English and the Irish, though their environment has been somewhat dissimilar, though their religion and culture have differed profoundly, both English and Irish are basically of the same race—or, rather, they are compounded of the same two basic races. Is it merely that, on the whole, the English have more of the Anglo-Saxon in their makeup, and the Irish have more of the Celt-Iberian.

Common usage describes the Englishman as an Anglo-Saxon, and the Irishman as Celt. But many Irishmen have far more of the Anglo-Saxon in them than many Englishmen; and many Englishmen are far more Celtic than many Irishmen.

It is the mixture of Celt-Iberian and Anglo-Saxon, both in the English and in the Irish, as well as in the Scotch, that has been the dominant influence in developing the United States. It is no more fair to call it Anglo-Saxon than it would be to call it Celt-Iberian.

FOUNDERS DAY CELEBRATED AT FIRST PARISH CHURCH

Rev. John Nicol Mark Gives Historical Address on 202nd Anniversary. Relics Are Exhibited.

"Founders Day" was celebrated at the First Parish (Unitarian) Church last Sunday morning with Rev. John Nicol Mark delivering an appropriate and interesting discourse, entitled "Treasures—New and Old". Parts of his sermon, which have to do with the historical records of the parish, are printed below.

In his address the minister referred to many treasures of a spiritual nature. But there were also on exhibition more tangible relics which could be seen and touched. Miss Edith Whittemore had charge of the exhibit which included manuscripts of sermons, books, papers, and the prized original tankard which the Boston Museum has not in its care.

The tankard is inscribed, "The gift of Mr. Jonathan Butterfield to the Second Church of Christ Cambridge 1769". It is hand-wrought, the work of the famous Edwards. So much noise was made by the slapping cover that a spout was added, cutting through the original marking. The piece is not only a valuable relic, but very beautiful as well.

Extracts from Mr. Mark's sermon: Once again on the Founders Anniversary Sunday in the spirit of reverence and appreciation we turn our thoughts back to the beginnings of this parish. It is an old story to many of us yet we never grow tired of its repetition.

To the stranger in our midst—to the newcomer to Arlington—the story should prove as fascinating as the story of the founding of any movement or institution. We read that it was in the heart of David, King of Israel, to build a temple unto the Lord. It was in the heart of such men as John Cutler, Ephraim Frost, Henry Dunster, Jonathan Butterfield, Jr., Francis Locke, Josiah Robbins, Abraham Hill, and Joseph Adams that there should be a church in this place and today we gladly honor them as founders. We honor them for their persistence in renewing several times their petition to the General Court. We pay tribute to their judgment and foresight in placing their first church building on "the parcel of land which was reserved out of the commons for a burial place". The founders were sagacious in their choice of a spot which has become the very center of modern Arlington.

Even after 200 years we would not exchange our meeting place for any other spot in Arlington.

To the newcomer to Arlington, I recommend highly that he read the written story of this parish if he desires to catch the tradition spirit and influence of this house of worship.

If he is particularly interested in the buildings that have stood on this hallowed ground he will find that each of the four churches which have stood here has an interest of its own. It will surprise him to learn on this cold Winter's day, with our present church comfortably heated, that for 86 years our forefathers worshipped on this spot without any artificial warmth. It was not until September, 1820, that a stove and funnel were put up for the comfort and convenience of the people.

He will learn of a great tragedy that came to this parish in 1856, when the new church erected 16 years before, with its first organ, was completely destroyed by fire and he will marvel at the courage and devotion of its minister and people in erecting this building which was dedicated on New Year's Day, 1857, clear of all debt.

If the newcomer is interested in the ministers who have preached from the pulpit of the First Parish, "And we are all enjoined by holy writ to remember our leaders who speak the word of God to you", he will find this part of the story fascinating. We are informed that at the very beginning the Parish had many troubles finding a minister. Five calls were given and were declined, but there is this about it—that when a minister was finally settled in the Parish he stayed for 44 years.

There have been 14 ministers of the Parish in its 202 years of history and two of that small number—Dr. Damon and Rev. Samuel Abbot Smith—died in the pastorate.

Dr. Fluke was minister for 40 years and our own beloved Dr. Gill, resigned in 1927 after 35 years continuous service.

Dr. Hedge, after leaving the parish attained eminence in theology and was a professor in Harvard College. The story of the First Parish ministers is a notable record of which every one in our parish is justly proud.

If the newcomer is interested in the religious affairs of the parish he will find much to attract his attention. The Congregational Churches of Massachusetts had both a covenant and a creed, the latter being a statement of theological beliefs. When, as a result of the theological controversy which rocked the religious life of New England in the early years of the 19th century, many of the old parishes, including this one in West Cambridge, became Unitarian, the creed was abolished and a simple covenant retained.

Again, the newcomer should know that out of this old parish have gone groups to form other churches. With the secession in 1781 of a group who formed the First Baptist Church, and later in 1840 of a group who organized the Universalist Church. Another separation took place in 1856 when the parishioners in what is now called Belmont united with a group from the Parish in Watertown to form The First Church in Belmont.

No one can sense the heartbreak which accompanied these secessions. It meant to many the breaking of old ties and spiritual friendship. It meant in every case a weakening of

HOCKEY TEAM WINS TWO AND CLIMBS INTO 1st PLACE TIE

Newton and Cambridge Latin Take Honors with Locals. Latter Defeated by Red and Gray Last Saturday.

The Arlington High Hockey team climbed into a first place tie with Newton and Cambridge Latin by defeating Stoneham, 3-0, as Melrose lost in a Greater Boston Interscholastic Hockey League game at the Boston Garden last Tuesday.

The game was full of spills, thrills, and excitement. Arlington displayed a brand of hockey seldom seen by local fans. Both offensively and defensively, Arlington was the better team. At one phase of the game, Arlington had two men in the penalty box but prevented Stoneham from scoring.

The first period was a battle of goalies, both teams hammering at the goalies who made many remarkable saves. After 9 minutes and six seconds of intensive scrummage, Bob Mee took a pass from Roger Keefe and sent a sizzling shot, from the blue line, with which the bewildered goalie was unable to cope. As the bell rang, Joe Gardella and a Stoneham player were sent to the penalty box.

The second period opened with both teams having a player in the penalty box. The game surged back and forth, with neither team being able to score. In the closing minutes of the period, Arlington had two men in the penalty box. Stoneham tried frantically to score, sending the whole team, excepting the goalie, up the ice. Sakolian made many thrilling saves during those hectic moments. When the bell rang a Stoneham player hit the puck into the net, as there was still two minutes of the game remaining, an official having rung the bell for a reason other than that of closing the period. Stoneham claimed that the goal should count as the period was not over, but as the Arlington players were out of position, the officials ruled no goal.

The third period was a repetition of the first two periods, with the game becoming rougher. Finally, after five minutes of play, Joe Gardella sent a shot at the goalie who tried to clear, but could not as Red Preston had followed Gardella's shot and batted the puck past the goalie. A few minutes later, Preston soloed down the ice and scored again. This victory places Arlington in a first place tie with Newton and Cambridge Latin as Melrose, which had led the pack, was defeated by Medford.

Latin Lacked.
The Arlington High Hockey team defeated the Cambridge Latin sextet, last year's champions, 4 to 2, in a Greater Boston Interscholastic Hockey League game at the Boston Arena last Saturday afternoon. The game was hotly contested, the deciding goals being made in the waning moments of the game. Finally, after three minutes had elapsed, "Rajah" Keefe dribbled down the ice and passed to "Fumes" Mee who sent a pretty shot past the bewildered and chagrined goalie.

This goal seemed to put the Canbats into a frenzy, for they stormed the Arlington cage. Eventually, Roy Chaisson sent a shot at "Red Light" Sakolian who parried the shot, but had the misfortune to clear the puck straight onto the stick of "Marty" Buckley who promptly sent a hard shot into the strings to tie the score at one apiece.

The remainder of the period saw both teams trying to break the tie, but to no avail. At one phase of the game, Cambridge Latin had seven men on the ice, but no penalty was inflicted, the explanation being that the official did not see the substitute.

The second period opened with Arlington taking the offensive again. Bill Collins took the rubber disc down the ice again and again, but the Canbats' goalie was equal to the occasion and succeeded in frustrating the attempts at scoring. During this period, Sakolian made many brilliant saves. After seven minutes of play had elapsed, Mee sent in a hard shot from the side which the goalie was powerless to blank. The period ended with Arlington leading by one point.

After four minutes, two seconds of the third period had gone by, Roy Chaisson sent a roller at Sakolian who was unable to follow the erratic course of the disc and the score was tied. After this, both teams battled desperately to score. When eight minutes of the period had been played, "Jumping Joe" Gardella sent a sizzling shot into the net to put Arlington in the lead. But with 22 seconds of play remaining, Johnny Chipman took a pass from Captain "Truck" Norberg and sunk a neat shot to put Arlington in the lead by two points. Referees: Gordon and Mahoney. Time, three 12m. periods.

A. H. S. Quintet Bumps Brookline

The Arlington High Basketball team easily defeated the Brookline High quintet, 43-16, in the New Auditorium, last Wednesday. The Arlington team led throughout the game, the score at the half being 15 to 6 in favor of the Red Raiders.

The game started with both teams playing a tight defensive game. The scoring was opened by "Shiek" Jones, Arlington center, who looped a one-handed shot into the strings. King, Brookline right forward, retaliated with a shot that tied the score. A few minutes later, Peranen sunk a foul shot to place Brookline in the lead. This was the only time Brookline led. "Curly" Shields looped a nice basket to place Arlington ahead. A basket by Pat O'Brien and Herb Siders sinking a foul shot put Arlington out in front by a good margin.

Jones again started things in the second period by scoring a basket. Pat O'Brien and Bart Madden quickly followed with a basket apiece. Brown, right guard, kept Brookline in the running by scoring two points. Bart Madden came back to score a basket, and as the half ended Hines sunk a foul basket for Brookline. The score at the half stood, 15-6 in Arlington's favor.

In the third period, Arlington annexed 11 points as against 4 for Brookline. Captain Charles Lowder finally succeeded in scoring during this period, getting five points. Shields got four points, and Madden got two. The Brookline points were made by Sullivan and Peranen.

In the final canto, Brookline succeeded in getting six points while Arlington took it easy and got only 17.

The Arlington Seconds defeated the Brookline Seconds, 27-13, in the preliminary game. Don De Feo was the high scorer for the Red Shirts, with a total of ten.

Arlington A. A. Wins Two Big Thrillers

The Arlington Athletic Assn., led by some brilliant shooting by Bob Friery and fast passing by the entire team, pinned a 57-39 on the Al Smith Club of Somerville, leaders of the Greater Boston league, Saturday night.

It was a fast game from start to finish and had plenty of rough spots to keep a large crowd on their toes most of the game. The amount of fouls committed would have been enough to win any game if they had been scored at all. Johnny Driscoll and Eddie Galucci were feeding as never before and the result was evident by the high scoring spree.

Tony Sarausky back from Fordham scored 12 points in the attack and was the target of the opponents but Tony was immense on the defense. Bob Friery collected 24 points for his share of the spoils. The largest crowd of the year attended the game and was treated to some good basketball.

On Tuesday afternoon at the West End House before the biggest crowd in the history of the House, the Arlington A. A. pinned a 42-25 defeat on the J. V. of that establishment. The experience and passing attack of the Arlington team was too much for the home boys and at half time piled up a 23-11 advantage never to lose that lead. Eddie Galucci rose to great heights in this game with his wonderful shooting. Bob Friery continued his most brilliant shooting scoring 18 points.

Senior High School Notes

On February first, the High School Dramatic Club is to present "The Country Cousin" by Booth Tarkington and Julian Street. This is a snappy, modern comedy, and is full of witty and clever dialogue. The leading roles are being taken by Anna Swenson and Milton Matthews. Juvenile leads are Floyd Battie and Florence Kellogg. Others in the cast include Marjorie Harrington, Virginia Larson, Phillip Weatherill, Gertrude Harrington, Barbara Fowler, Paul Gariepy, John Buckley, James Carmody, and John Wallword, many of whom are Dramatic Club veterans.

The dramatic Club feels justified in considering "The Country Cousin" to be a fitting climax to a long series of such Dramatic Club successes as "The Enemy", "Shavings", "Highness", "Grumpy", and "The Merchant of Venice".

The teachers' afternoon special help sessions as well as many of the club meetings were omitted this week because the teachers were busy in recording marks.

Arlingtonians buy the Advocate because they want it and read it because they buy it.

Belmont Tops One And Ties Another

It wasn't fighting Phil Grotjohn's fault that his team of Belmont high pucksters didn't start the New Year off in a winning way, for when he found out his team was taking the count with hockeys he turned on fistfights on one of the enemy in a vain attempt to wipe out the score which Newton finally bested Belmont by 2 scores to 1 in their New Year's Day scrap at the Boston Garden. From the very start of the game the feeling was not

Bringing with it the enchantment of Hawaiian nights, the spirit of the United States Army, the thrill of West Point and the romance of glorious youth, "Flirtation Walk", the first military musical ever screened, starts Sunday for four days at the University. Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler, the nation's most popular lovers, and Pat O'Brien head an all star cast, which includes, in addition to a score of Hollywood's best actors, the entire cadet corps of the United States Military Academy at West Point, portion of the Pacific Fleet, and a detachment of the regular army at Honolulu.

"Gentlemen Are Born", the companion picture, is a feature of romance and thrills, treating of the batte of four college boys for success. The cast includes Ann Dvorak, Franchot Tone, Jean Muir, Margaret Lindsay and Nick Foran.

Boasting a cast of "Grand Hotel" proportions, one of the finest directors, who ever handled a megaphone and one of the grandest stories ever written in novel form, "The Captain Hates the Sea" comes Thursday. The cast includes Victor McLaglen, John Gilbert, Wynne Gibson, Alison Skipworth, Helen Vinson, Walter Connolly, Leon Errol, Walter Catlett, Luis Alberni, John Wray, Claude Gillingwater and Howard, Fine and Howard (The Three Stooges). The plot concerns related incidents which occur aboard ship. It deals largely with the attempts of Schulte, a detective, played by McLaglen, to outwit a very clever crook who has in his possession stolen bonds worth over a quarter of a million dollars. The situations are for the greater part hilariously amusing.

"Limehouse Blues", the companion picture starring George Raft.

DON'T LET THEM DOWN

If it is true that a baby learns how to hoodwink his parents before he has attained the age of one month (and it is), it is certainly very plainly understood that character building is something which cannot be postponed. We must train tomorrow's men while they are still boys. The Boy Scouts is, in our opinion, one of the greatest and most effective training agencies in existence.

Next Monday evening more than one hundred volunteer workers will sally forth upon the town in the attempt to raise sufficient moneys to keep Sachem Council, Boy Scouts of America, in operation for one more year.

In recent times the local council has had a struggle to remain in existence, in spite of the fact that obviously there is more need of scouting now than ever before, which fact is clearly indicated in increased membership in Arlington and all over the country.

Increasing membership and decreasing revenues has made imperative a great cut in operating expenses. Salaries of the paid executive and his assistants have suffered, activities were curtailed and other economies were effected until the cost per scout has been reduced to less than $\frac{1}{2}$ of what it was in 1929.

But in spite of everything in some of the recent years the Council has failed to escape from an operating deficit. The Executive Board felt it wiser to pile up a debt rather than adopt the repugnant alternative of giving up scouting.

Last year workers raised $2,500, and it is fervently hoped that that amount will be at least reached in 1935. Arlington, which has been keen on scouting ever since the movement started twenty-five years ago, now has more scouts in proportion to boy population than nine out of ten communities in the country.

It is unthinkable that such work should not continue.

Fifty Years Ago This Week

WELCOME 1885

But for all the wonderful yield of the soil, the year past cannot be counted as a prosperous one in a business point, and the outlook is far from encouraging if one only counts up the closed mills and mines, and makes tables of the statistics of the unemployed. There is another and brighter side, easily discovered. It is generally conceded that the retail market has a small stock of goods. If this is so, then the overproduction and glut of the market said to exist and pointed out as a cause of the depression, is at the source of supply, and only a revival of confidence that shall set the retailers on the market as purchasers is needed to send a stream of prosperity all along the line of traffic.

It is useless to deny that there are "hard times" and that the future is none too bright. But there has always been a swing in the direction of prosperity whenever the pendulum has swung as far the other way as now, and he will begin the year best for himself and those nearest to him who will take this view of the situation and bear a cheerful face—difficult as that may be.

The annual meeting of Arlington Baptist Church and Sunday School was held Monday evening, when the following were chosen to serve as officers for the ensuing year: Church Clerk and Treasurer, Geo. G. Allen; Standing Committee, Rev. C. H. Watson, Dea. John G. Hobbs, Geo. G. Allen, Wm. E. Wood, Wendell E. Richardson, Wm. H. Allen, S. B. Thring, H. E. Chamberlain, Warren Rawson; Chorister, Wm. E. Wood.

Our friend, Mr. Geo. Y. Wellington, one of our constant advertisers has the usual variety of calendars from the several insurance companies he represents, and will be pleased to supply callers.

It seems strange to us that no one can be found to apply the punishments for violated law in the case of John L. Sullivan, the bruiser and roisterer, and land him where he most unquestionably belongs—behind prison bars.

IN 1910

Twenty-five Years Ago This Week

This is the 39th time the Advocate has wished you and yours a Happy New Year. We trust our regard for each other grows stronger and stronger with the increasing years.

We learn through the Harvard University Gazette that Ralph Hornblower, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hornblower of

Here and There

Last week we set some "filler" lines which read, "The Advocate wishes its readers a prosperous and therefore Happy New Year". And now we are criticized for the insertion of that word "therefore". It has been suggested that we are not spiritual-minded if we think that one must be prosperous to be happy.

Well, we can't stand a criticism like that. We may make mistakes and we may not know what we are talking about a good deal of the time, but we must be spiritual at all costs. If you will look in your dictionaries you will find that "successful" is one of the meanings of prosperous. And we still claim that one can not be really happy without some small measure of success at something. Like Little Orphan Annie, we can be brave in failure. We can smile through our tears, but who wants tears to smile through.

We joyously announce that we have discovered a sure cure for La Grippe. The writer came close to starting the New Year all wrong when he came down with a jumping temperature on Sunday. Monday things were better, but certainly not good enough to allow him to go to work. But with the passing hours came the realization that if he stayed in bed he was going to miss something good.

Strangely enough, he began to feel much better at about the time when everyone was quitting work. He reasoned this way, "I can be sick any time I feel like it, but New Year's Eve comes only once a year." So he went to the dance, and in spite of well-meant promises of dire consequences which included an unpleasant death, he was well enough, unfortunately, to go out in the storm and shovel snow the next morning.

On and about the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth of this month the Sophisticated Onlooker will assume the role of palpitating author when his surprising drama, "Swift Sword" is to be presented by the Friends of the Drama. The surprising part is the fact that he ever summoned the energy to write the thing.

We should like to say, however, that those who view the production will enjoy some fine acting. There has been assembled a superlative cast which is guaranteed to make up for the short-comings of the author.

Someone has said, "The broad, general rule is that a man is about as big as the things that make him mad." It is also a good idea to be at least as big as the man who makes you mad.

A British society is promoting a Home for Aged Golfers. How aged does a golfer have to be before he becomes interested in home?

SOPHISTICATED ONLOOKER.

Tuberculosis Association Needs More Funds

Mr. Henry C. McKenna, Chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale, states that the Boston Tuberculosis Association has received to date the sum of $25,000.00 from the sale of Christmas Seals. The Association is grateful to all those who have contributed to this sale. In order to carry on the Prendergast Pro-ventorium, the Sheltered Shop, the clinics and the educational work where it is most needed and to try to reduce the death rate from tuberculosis which has increased 7% here in Boston in the past year, the sum of $40,000.00 must be received from this source. Many of the recipients of these Seals have not yet responded. It is too late to use the Christmas Seals this year but it is not too late to make a contribution to this worthy cause.

Arlington Stamp Club Meets Next Monday

Monday evening, January 7th, the Arlington Stamp Club starts the new year's activities for this section with their meeting, which will be held at the Universalist Parish Hall, (opposite the Town Hall) at 8 o'clock.

Recently in the Boston Transcript, it was reported that this Arlington Stamp Club was the first suburban club to have a membership of 100 and also received the greatest number of new members in six months. This club is very active and has an extensive program in mind for this year.

There are to be no speakers at the January meetings, with the extra time being devoted to the meeting, auction, bourse, and general get-togethers.

HALLISEY MUSICAL COMEDY
COMING NEXT FRIDAY

The coming musical comedy to be presented Friday evening, January 11, 1935, in the Junior High East is well underway on rehearsals at present. Laura A. Hallisey, dancing teacher at the Heights, has been coaching a cast of 100 local people in an all-singing and dancing revue for the last two months at her studio. The story has been written by Miss Hallisey and promises to entertain boys and girls from "six to sixty".

Many of the young men and women taking part have been with Miss Hallisey in her previous productions, t. e. The Alton Four, Eleanor Rayer blues chaser, Rita Fenn, "Sister of Syncopation", Ski Dineen, Arlington's future air-wave warbler. Clarence Higgins, a new vocal "find", will render a tango, "Orchids in the Moonlight". Many other familiar faces will greet the large crowd expected to attend. Judging from Miss Hallisey's show last year, those who want seats are advised to procure tickets immediately at the studio, 1217 Mass. avenue, or from one of the cast in the show. Dancing will follow the show from ten to twelve o'clock.

—Miss Dorothy Doe, formerly of Arlington, has accepted a position for the winter playing at Florence Villa, Florida.

"Disraeli" Performance Will Benefit Heights Library

A. Francis Knight of 11 Tanager street is in charge of the tickets for the play, "Disraeli", which is to be given by the Park Players of the Park Avenue Congregational Church in the Town Hall on February 15. The entire proceeds of this performance will be given to the Vittoria C. Dallin Fund of the Arlington Heights Study Club. This fund is for the building of the Heights Branch of the Robbins Memorial Library at the corner of Paul Revere road and Park avenue, at the Heights.

PRESENT EX-MAILMAN WITH LARGE PURSE

The recent retirement of Letter Carrier James G. Keenan, brought a spontaneous thought among one residents, whom he had served so faithfully for thirty-seven years. In remembrance of his genial and friendly service they wished him a particularly Happy New Year by presenting him with a gift of $265 gladly contributed by his friends along his route.

Mr. Keenan was surprised by the gift and very deeply touched with the spirit which prompted it. His one regret is the fact that he has not sufficient strength to write to each and every one of those who remembered him in such a substantial manner. He requested that the Advocate express his appreciation for him.

FREEDMAN—GUERSTEN

A very pretty wedding took place recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Guerstien of 404 Massachusetts Avenue when their eldest daughter, Edith S., was united in marriage to Allan Freedman, Newton businessman.

The bride was charming in a dress of pale blue chiffon with cap and veil. She was attended by her sister Bertha who wore dark blue and gold. Jerry Gerstien, a cousin of the bride, was best man. After the ceremony and reception at which delicious refreshments were served to two hundred relatives and friends, the young couple left for Atlantic City and Washington. On their return they will live on Commonwealth Avenue, Allston.

SPENCER—CRITCHERSON

Hattie Denney Critcherson, the daughter of Mrs. William R. Critcherson of 20 Windsor street, was married on the last day of 1934 to Edward H. Spencer in the First Congregational Church, Cambridge, by Rev. Dr. Raymond Caulkins who performed the double ring ceremony at four o'clock.

The bride, who wore a dark green silk crepe afternoon gown and green hat, was attended by Mrs. Roy Thorenson of Cambridge as matron of honor. The latter wore gold crepe with a brown hat. The bride carried talisman roses. The best man was Clark C. Bryan of New York.

The church was effectively decorated with evergreens and the music was by the organist of the church, John Loud, who played the wedding marches and pastoral music during the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Arlington High School, and the groom, who is the son of Prof. and Mrs. Edward B. Spencer of Grinnell, Iowa, is a graduate of Grinnell College and Harvard Law School.

After the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Spencer will reside at 221 East 54th street, New York City. The wedding was attended only by members of the immediate families.

Mesdames Alfred T. Baker, Ward F. Chick and Robert Clifford, Jr., received in dressy afternoon frocks and the ushers were Milton Paige, Bradford Richards, Arthur Saul, Donald Moore, Ward Chick, Robert Cade, William Bent and Kenneth Higgins. Some hundred and thirty young people enjoyed the two hours of dancing, prizes and favors and during the intermission were entertained by Miss Peterson, Miss Singleton and Mr. Curry. Owing to repeated requests Miss Peterson and Mr. Curry gave a tap routine. The music was by Mrs. H. H. Stinson at the piano and Howard Cutter at the drum and when the balloons were lowered from the ceiling and the "gliders" given the boys were in use there wasn't an idle minute.

The Advanced Junior High group and the High School class (numbering one hundred and fifty) had their party in the evening. Mrs. Grace D. Curry in black and gold evening dress and the matrons Mrs. Ernest Bensonhol, Mrs. Edward H. Leonard and Mrs. David Kennedy in modish evening toilettes received the attractively gowned young ladies presented by Messrs. Russell Wise, Warren Bixby, Robert and Richard Brainard, Chester Hill, Norman Austin, John Downs, Henry Guernsey, John Hickey and Theodore Lacey. There wasn't a dull moment for the seven piece orchestra with Allen Smith at the piano kept them busy on the floor when Mrs. Curry was not providing other amusement. The same exhibition dances were given by Misses Peterson and Singleton.

Interment was in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

DEATHSRALPH N. SMITH

Funeral services for Ralph N. Smith, who died on Wednesday, will be held tomorrow afternoon in the First Parish (Unitarian) Church at two-thirty o'clock. Rev. Frederick Gill, minister emeritus, and Rev. John Nicol Mark, the present pastor, will officiate.

Since he has lived here for more than thirty-five years, Mr. Smith was very well known in Arlington, and beloved by all who knew him. During most of that time he has made his home at 33 Gray Street, where he died. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, a son Robert and a daughter, Margaret. On news of his sudden death the flag over the local public buildings were placed at half-mast.

Mr. Smith was connected with the courts at East Cambridge for the past thirty-five years and for thirteen has been clerk of courts for Middlesex County. In 1921 he was appointed to that position to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William C. Dillingham. He was elected the following year and since then has been successful of reelection each time the voters went to the polls. He had been working regularly until last Friday, when he went home, suffering from a bad cold.

The deceased was born in Worcester sixty-three years ago and was educated in the schools of that city. He graduated from Templeton High School with the class of 1888. Shortly after his graduation he found employment as bookkeeper and teacher at the House of Correction, East Cambridge, and was appointed to a clerkship in the Middlesex court's office in 1893. Three years later he was commissioned third assistant. He became second assistant in 1910.

The Boston Globe said of him: "... He was greatly beloved by members of the bench and bar, and by all others who came in contact with him. He was courteous to all, and no trouble was too great for him to take, if he could render assistance. He was especially helpful to young lawyers and to persons who had occasion to seek information at the clerk's office".
